Subject Fireside Elementary's future

Thanks for the response and I can appreciate the broader impact. For us in the Fireside community, the school is at the center of the neighborhood and the hub of a community severely impacted by the Marshall Fire. I worry any dramatic change to a thriving school could crush the neighborhood. I hope there are some studies on the community impact for any schools. For Fireside, this is a fairly affluent neighborhood and I can imagine a mass exit of people moving (Fireside is the main reason people move here) and/or leaving BVSD to put their kids in private schools.

Best of luck and hope we have the opportunity to view the final proposals with notice before a vote.

As you know, families across the district care deeply about their schools, and each school community is valued for its own unique strengths.

Any decision regarding school closures or consolidation should be guided first and foremost by that mission: ensuring students receive the best possible education within available resources. By that measure, Fireside Elementary stands out as an asset that should be protected and leveraged—not diminished.

As you know, Fireside most recently received the Colorado Governor's Distinguished Improvement Award in 2025 for demonstrating exceptional student growth. Schools like Fireside Elementary elevate the reputation of the entire district and are precisely the type of institution that attract families like mine to BVSD. Closing or significantly altering a high-performing, award-recognized school risks undermining the District's broader goal of maintaining and strengthening its standing as a leader in public education, and I fear it would also force parents in an affluent area like Fireside to explore private school options if the school were to only offer certain elementary school grades or close – which would only decrease enrollment in BVSD more.

That culture is not incidental—it is foundational to student success. Students who feel safe, supported, and known by their teachers are better positioned to engage, learn, and thrive. This kind of environment cannot be easily replicated or transferred; it is built over time through relationships, leadership, and a shared commitment among staff and families. Disrupting that culture would come at a real cost to students, most of whom walk to and from school and engage closely with their neighbors, as opposed to further-flung schools where commuting by car is more common.

> Fireside Elementary also serves as a cornerstone of its community. Many families are able to walk to school, creating daily opportunities for connection—between students, parents, and neighbors. These small, consistent interactions foster a sense of belonging and strengthen relationships that carry into the classroom. The walkable nature of the school reinforces the very culture that makes it successful and contributes to a cohesive, engaged community that supports student learning in meaningful ways. As a parent of two young children who are now walking to school themselves or with friends, the location of the school is the primary reason we opt for Fireside as opposed to other schools, including private options.

Strategic, Central Location

From a practical standpoint, Fireside Elementary is also uniquely well-positioned to serve the District's broader needs. Its central location in the Louisville and Superior region makes it an ideal school to absorb students from other schools facing closure due to declining enrollment.

Rather than closing or altering a high-performing school, the District could more effectively utilize Fireside Elementary as a hub—maximizing existing infrastructure while preserving quality and continuity for students.

Aligning Decisions with BVSD's Core Mission

At a time when enrollment challenges require difficult decisions, it is critical that the District prioritize what matters most: delivering an excellent education and maintaining BVSD as a place where families actively choose to live and enroll their children. Preserving high-performing schools like Fireside Elementary is essential to that goal. These schools are not just part of the system—they are a key driver of its success and reputation.

For these reasons, I respectfully ask that Fireside Elementary is preserved as a kindergarten to fifth grade school as the Board explores solutions that protect both educational quality and community stability.

Thank you for your time, leadership, and continued commitment to the students and families of Fireside Elementary and the broader Boulder Valley School District.

Sincerely,

Antonio Gonzalez
